Into the Wild: A Self Psychological Journey

Joanne Yurman, PhD

2 Hours: One 2-hour session

This program has been approved by NASW- New York State for 2 contact hours under approval S-439-C.

The book, Into the Wild, by Jonathon Krakauer, and the eponymous movie, have captured the public imagination with a story of a search for adventure and transcendence, ending in tragedy. The themes it embodies are illuminated by self psychological concepts, particularly the undifferentiated self object experience described by Crayton Rowe, MSW. This experience of anticipating unknown happenings yet to come is vitalizing and common to us all. This presentation will explore Chris McCandless' use of the undifferentiated self object experience to sustain himself in the face of developmental deprivation.

Joanne Yurman, PhD NYIPSP Board, Faculty, Supervisor; Graduate, NYU Postdoctoral Program in Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis; private practice, Lenox, MA and New York, NY.
